EDUCATIONAL EVENTS & ACTIVITIES

Discover the strange and wild weather of planets — including our own — with The Zula Patrol this summer at the Adler Planetarium. Families can enjoy fun activities and special Zula Patrol events that help kids learn about weather on Earth and in space.

The Zula Patrol Family Week – June 25-29, 2007

The Zula Patrol characters will be on hand to meet aspiring space explorers at the Adler during Zula Patrol Family Week, June 25-29. Families will enjoy free hands-on activities while interacting with walk-around Zula characters. The Zula Patrol Family Week is free with paid museum admission.

Far Out Friday with The Zula Patrol – July 6, 2007

Join the Zula Patrol at the Adler's Far Out Friday on July 6, 2007 to celebrate the most talked about part of summer — the weather! This Zula Patrol-themed event will feature Zula Patrol walk-around characters ready to pose for photos with young explores, special hands-on Zula activities, and weather-related demonstrations including cloud making and static electricity. But don't stop there! Aspiring explorers can try on a simulated space suit, touch real space food, check out a real space shuttle heat tile, and explore other objects from our current and past space missions. Every Far Out Friday includes free telescope viewing, unlimited sky and space shows and much more.

Activities described below will occur during The Zula Patrol Family Week and Far Out Friday and on select days throughout the summer. Daily activities vary, so please go to www.adlerplanetarium.org for an updated schedule.

Build a Space Station

Learn about what travelers to the Moon or other planets need to live in outer space and use that knowledge to build a model space station.

Recommended for ages 5 and up

Design a Zula Character

Children will use different types of craft materials to design their own Zula character.

Recommended for ages 3 and up

Zula Bingo Sessions

Come join us for several out-of-this-world Zula Bingo sessions.

Winners will receive a small prize.

Recommended for ages 5 and up

Space Rocks Dance Time

Join us as we celebrate kids and outer space with our Space Rocks Dance Time. Kids can dance to the old classics such as the Hokey Pokey and The Chicken Dance underneath the planets in our Solar System Gallery.

Recommended for ages 3-6
